

UK Water Hardness Map

Our UK map below will provide you with a guideline of the mineral content in your area and what it means for your machine.

Hard = High mineral content. Please be aware that customers living in HARD-water areas are asked to purchase a water softener when ordering a machine without an integral water softener. For relevant water softeners, please see "accessories" tab on product page. Please note that not purchasing an appropriate water softener if living in a HARD water area could invalidate any supplier warranty.

Medium = Medium mineral content. Please be aware that for customers living in MEDIUM-water areas it is asked that they purchase a water softener when ordering a machine without an integral water softener. For relevant water softeners, please see "accessories" tab on product page. Please note that not purchasing an appropriate water softener if living in a MEDIUM water area could invalidate any supplier warranty.

Soft = Low mineral content. Please be aware that for customers living in SOFT-water areas a water softener is not normally required.

Please note, this map acts as a guideline ONLY. Any customers unsure about the accuracy of this map should contact their water service provider for confirmation. We recommend you regularly clean & maintain your unit. For tips and advice on how to properly maintain your unit please refer to your user manual under "Maintenance & Servicing"
